JOHN L. SINGS BEANS' PRAISE.

Comments on Brain Storms, Mollified and Food Values During Chat.

New York, March 27.—Loud cries of "No! No!" arose from New Yorkers when they read the news from Washington telling how Uncle Sam's food experts had declared that eating lobster caused brain storms that a nut and cereal diet produced mollifiedness; that raw meat made people ferocious, crafty and selfish, and that "beef and—" meals led to mediocrity on the part of the quick lunch patrons.

One of the first to raise his voice in protest was John L. Sullivan. He said: "Rye and corn are ideal cereals. Raw meat make men ferocious! No! In food of park shops. I never saw a mollified. I've been through all kinds of weather, but never saw a brain storm. They've nothing to do with lobsters. "A man needs to eat plenty of meat and potatoes to be any good in this world. I was brought up on beans. There's nothing in this matter with them. They hold your stuff on fine and keep your teeth from falling out."

THE BINGHAM BILL DELAYED

A Discovery That it Was Misprinted

IT MUST BE REPASSED

After Some Amendment—Indication That Error Is Not an Accident—Misprint Also Prevents Action on the Recount Measure.

Albany, N. Y., March 27.—A new turn in the Bingham bill developed here yesterday morning, which curiously follows the discoveries of the $82,000 corruption fund in New York city. The discovery here was that the Bingham bill, which passed the assembly last week and was ready to pass the Senate yesterday, had been misprinted. The results of this misprinting is that the bill must be amended, reprinted in the assembly and cannot be passed in the Senate until next week. The net effect of this, of course, is to permit delay and give those handling the corruption fund an opportunity to get in their work. Such errors as this have been known in the past when they were made deliberately for the purpose of retarding bills that were open to similar opposition.

Moreover, the general feeling of dissatisfaction at this proceeding was intensified by the discovery that the recount bill, providing for a recounting of the ballots cast in the McClellan-Hearst election, had been also misprinted and could not be passed yesterday as a result. This is the measure Governor Hughes has asked for. The error in the bill was so obvious and clumsy that when taken in conjunction with that in the Bingham bill and may lead to an investigation.

Anti-Ticket Speculators' Bill Killed. The Senate yesterday recommitted and thereby practically killed the Saxe bill, designed to amend the penal code by providing a penalty for persons indulging in sidewalk speculation in theatre tickets. This was a companion bill defeated Monday night which sought to prohibit the issuance of licenses to ticket speculators.

HOUSE PASSES STURGIS REPEAL.

The Senate Refers It to the Judiciary Committee.

Augusta, Me., March 27.—The bill to repeal the Sturgis law, the measure passed at the last legislative session and providing for the better enforcement of the liquor laws, was passed in the Maine House of Representatives yesterday by a vote of 78 to 30. The Senate has referred the bill to the judiciary committee. A bill to amend the Sturgis law was indefinitely postponed. A bill forbidding the indiscriminate distribution and regulating the advertising of patent medicines was passed to be engrossed.

MORE RELIEF FOR THE MONEY MARKET.

Cortelyou Authorizes the Distribution of $15,000,000.

Washington, March 27.—About fifteen million dollars will be immediately released in New York as the result of action authorized by the secretary of the treasury after 11 o'clock yesterday. This notice was given out from the secretary's office.

Under instructions issued by the secretary of the treasury, collectors of customs throughout the country were directed to deposit their customs receipts in the regular depositories. This, however, did not embrace the so-called treasury cities. These instructions have been today enlarged by the secretary so that the public deposits with national bank depositories in New York City will be at once increased about $15,000,000 from customs receipts, under the provisions of the act of March 4, 1907.

This action is taken with a view to facilitating the redemption of the 4 per cent bonds of 1907 and also to render available additional funds for the usual disbursements occurring on the first proximo.

This statement was also given out: "The secretary of the treasury has instructed the treasurer of the United States to mail at once to the owners the checks for interest due April 1, 1907, on registered bonds of the 2 per cent consols of 1930 and the 4 per cent funded loan of 1907. The sub-treasury officers have been instructed to cash the checks on presentation, and to cash on presentation any April coupons belonging to the bonds of these two loans."

PRESIDENT FOR ARBITER.

To Decide When Whiskey Is Whiskey and When It Is Not Whiskey.

Washington, D. C., March 27.—When is whiskey not whiskey. And when is not whiskey whiskey? Of course this problem might be flippantly answered by saying "When it's a high ball," but the president of the United States must really decide the matter. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the chemical sharp of the government and pure food inspector, says that whiskey is not whiskey when it contains anything else, while Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture, holds that whiskey may be whiskey even though it contains something other than whiskey. To the ordinary mind, whiskey is whiskey, but not to the government since the pure food law went into effect.

Dr. Wiley went to the White House with bottles of all kinds of whiskey to talk "straight" whiskey to the president. He came in a cab and two porters carried the bottles into the president's office. Then, arranging the bottles in rows on a table, Dr. Wiley undertook to tell the president exactly what constitutes whiskey chemically. Just what position the president will take is problematical, but anything that he says is whiskey is whiskey.

FAMINE SUFFERING AWFUL.

The Stricken Chinese Are Practising Cannibalism.

Shanghai, March 27.—The famine stricken Chinese have been practising cannibalism in localities where the distress is most acute. Authentic cases have thus far been few, but it is feared that cannibalism will spread unless relief can be more speedily and more widely distributed. Fever continues to spread and the heavy rains are increasing the general misery. Spasmodic rioting has occurred, but the outbreaks have not been serious. The famine funds total approximately half a million taels. The famine relief organization is taxed to its utmost and is appealing for more volunteer helpers. Large orders for grain have been placed in America, Australia and Manchuria, with the stipulation that they must be filled as promptly as possible.

It will also remove the summer clothes, also the spring, the autumn and winter clothes, not only from the one who drinks it, but from the wife and family as well. VERMONT'S GENEROSITY

Would Accept Pension if he Could Give It Away

TO A CONFEDERATE CAMP

Capt. E. F. Griswold of St. Johnsbury Would Thus Thank Confederates for Good Treatment During His Imprisonment.

Washington, March 27.—The Washington Post prints the following special dispatch from Richmond, Virginia:

"Capt. E. F. Griswold, who served in the Eleventh Vermont Volunteers during the Civil War, has written to Postmaster Cabell offering to contribute to some Confederate camp the service pension of $12 a month which a recent act of Congress entitles him to receive. In his letter Capt. Griswold says, in part: 'I was a soldier of the Eleventh Vermont Regiment from 1862 till the close of the war and twice a prisoner in Libby prison, thanks to Mahoon's brigade the first time and to other Confederate soldiers the second time. They recaptured me after I had escaped and traveled 300 miles northward. I would be glad to accept the government's gratuity, which North and South both pay, provided there is any Confederate soldier's charitable organization that would be willing to receive it from me in recognition of kindness shown me while a prisoner.'"

Capt. Griswold writes from St. Johnsbury, Vermont. While the impression prevails that one of the Confederate camps will accept the offer, a debate on the subject is anticipated. The proposal is said to be unique.

Capt. Griswold is a member of the well known St. Johnsbury grain firm of Griswold & Mackinnon. He has never applied for a pension although in all probability entitled to a good rating.

ROSEBERY ATTACKS IDEA OF SEPARATE IRISH PARLIAMENT.

Great Britain Would Never Tolerate It, He Declares.

London, March 27.—Presenting at a meeting of the council of the Liberal League here this afternoon, Lord Rosebery declared that Great Britain would never tolerate a separate Irish Parliament. Such a proposal went far beyond anything the late Mr. Gladstone had intended. "A system suitable for Canada and Australia," Lord Rosebery added, "would be very different in a contiguous island which, in its public declarations, prided itself on its disloyalty." Continuing the speaker said he doubted whether the government's promised measure for Ireland would go to extremes, but it was a pity that the government's principal men should be making speeches leading the country to believe that something radical was intended.

He, Lord Rosebery, owed no allegiance to the present government; nevertheless, he congratulated it on its success thus far. He feared, however, it was promising too much. If it made any general attack on property, as had been threatened, its existence would be speedily ended.

LIKE FINDING MONEY

D. F. Davis, the popular druggist, is making an offer that is just like finding money, for he is selling a regular 50-cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount he agrees to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure. It is quite unusual to be able to buy fifty-cent pieces for a quarter, but that is what this offer really means, for it is only recently, through the solicitation of druggist Davis, that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents. He urged the proprietors to allow him to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified his good judgment, for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any change it should not, Mr. Davis will return your money. The specific is very pleasant to take, coming in the form of small granules, and there are sixty doses in every package.

Every Heart Beat

Forces about 8 ounces of blood out of the heart, and sends it coursing through the veins to the remotest part of the body. This is the amount required by nature to nourish and sustain your body. Every ounce less than this means a shortage in nature's supply of building-up material. A weak heart cannot meet this demand, and consequently you suffer. If your heart skips a beat, or flutters, palpitates, pains you, or you have shortness of breath, you may be sure that the heart is working imperfectly.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure will strengthen the heart muscles and nerves.

"I had been a great sufferer for 15 years. At the time I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I had been confined to my bed for four months. I had frequent sinking spells, sometimes as many as three in a day, during which my heart would seem to stop, beating necessitating the calling of a physician to resuscitate me. Before finishing the first bottle the sinking spells had ceased, and I took altogether five bottles for a complete cure. I now enjoy perfect health, and am very grateful for this wonderful medicine, for it is the means of my being with me this morning."

The victorious team had a total pin fall of 1248, while the Lumpers beat them by one point with a total of 1249. Brown of the Lumpers rolled the high single string with 117, and also the high three-string total with 292. The game schedule for this evening is between the Nippers and the Roughers. The score:

"FOLLOWING THE STEEL"

A Latter Day Term Illustrating the Strenuous Work of Skyscraper Building

They had stopped to look at Wall Street's latest skyscraper, which is being built for the Trust Company of America. "That's a pretty good sample of following the steel," said the building expert, pointing up to the clouds. The man of the street—the uninitiated layman—glanced over the modern Tower of Babel, but the phrase, "following the steel," remained untranslatable to him. "What is it?" said he. "Well, just look hard, and you'll see that the tile and brick squads are right on the heels of the steel works. In skyscraper parlance that is 'following the steel.'"

"See where the derrick is. That's the—let's see—ten, eleven, twelve; that's the thirty-story story. There's where the steel ends now. That gives them less than a month to put up the framework of the other twelve stories, which is 'going some,' isn't it? After the steel workers come the riveters, then the men who put in the fireproof tiling, and then the bricklayers. A good deal depends on regularity of supply, but in a big job like this there's generally enough material on hand to keep things humming."

Every few minutes a big cart thundered up the run to the plateau of boards serving as a lower floor and dumped a load of bricks—load and red, fancy and common—or a load of tile into the basement to be whirled aloft on the elevator.

"They have to keep things moving," the skyscraper artist went on. "You can't lag in this part of the town. The steel men of course, set the pace. Then it's up to the others to keep 'following the steel' for all they're worth."

"A twenty-five story building in three months! That's the strenuous life for you."

Inquiry of the superintendent in charge of the Trust Company's building developed the fact that everything—steel, tile and brick work of all descriptions—is due to be finished by January 20. No ordinary passivity would think such a feat possible; but the superintendent insisted it must be, and, barring earthquakes, what he says is usually goes. It is nothing unusual for the steel workers to frame up a story in two days, while the laying of a whole floor—in this case 7000 square feet—is just a day's work for the tile men.—New York Tribune.

TARIFF WAR ON AMERICA

France Clearly is Conducting Campaign

BELIEVES SHE SHOULD

Have First Treaty of Reciprocity—Re-sents Arrangement With Germany—Will Wait Now for a Move by This Country.

Paris, March 27.—While the campaign in favor of higher tariff duties on French imports with maximum and minimum rates is primarily to secure preferential concessions from all foreign countries in harmony with the system of double rates generally being adopted by the continental countries, it is impossible to deny that a special campaign is being projected against America. French commercial interests are convinced that America has more to lose than France in refusing to make a reciprocity treaty, as they believe that the particular articles of French exportation taken by the United States cannot be procured elsewhere and would be imported irrespective of rates. On the other hand, American exports, as in the case of cottonseed oil, would feel the force of every increase of duties. There is also, undoubtedly, considerable resentment of the seeming willingness of the United States to make a reciprocity or commercial arrangement with Germany, while the claims of France are ignored. They maintain that under every rule of equity France should be the first country with which a reciprocity arrangement should be concluded, because France came forward after the enactment of the Dingley bill in 1897 and concluded a treaty under the reciprocity clause of that act and then from time to time extended its life in the hope that it would be ratified. Since its rejection the ardor of France has cooled and they take the position that they can now afford to wait until the United States makes a move. It is especially galling to them, therefore, to see the United States pass France by and open negotiations with Germany, one of their biggest commercial rivals.

PENNSYLVANIA SENATE FAVORS 2-CENT FARE.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 27.—The Senate today passed finally the House two-cent railroad fare bill. ARRESTED MAN AND WOMAN.

They Were Charged With Non-payment of Government Tax.

Burlington, March 27.—Deputy United States Marshal Thomas Reeves arrested "Jack" and Minnie Powers yesterday on complaints for selling liquor without paying the government tax. They were taken before United States Commissioner George E. Johnson who fixed bail on each case at $500 each. The amount was furnished in each case. R. E. Brown appeared as counsel for the respondents.

PARALYTIC FATALLY BURNED BEFORE AID REACHES HIM.

Smoker Thought to Have Accidentally Set Fire to His Bed.

Philadelphia, March 27.—Campbell A. P. Snodgrass, a helpless paralytic, fifty-six years old, was burned to death in his bed early today. He was an inveterate cigarette smoker, and it is believed he accidentally set fire to the bed clothing. When the flames were discovered the entire room was smoky, making it impossible to reach the victim before he had been fatally burned.

Historic Ireland.

Ireland has long been enshrined in song and story, but for the first time in its history it has now been enshrined in enduring moving pictures. Splendid animated pictures of its principal places of interest; the habits, customs and industries of its people as well as its historic and natural beauties will be shown by Lyman H. How in the opera house on Saturday afternoon and evening. The scenes include a trip through Dublin's principal streets. Its many monuments that speak of days of strife, noble deeds and enterprise make these pictures extremely interesting. The banks of Ireland—regarded as the handsomest structure in Dublin—is portrayed magnificently. The imposing O'Connell and Nelson monuments; the post office and Trinity college all add dignity to one of the finest features of Mr. How's new program. Less dignified but more quaint are the scenes shown in the zig-zag streets of Cork. The severity and happy-go-lucky temperament of the easy going Celt is pictured to the life. The actions of the typical Irish characters of the old Clothes Market; an Irish "Suffragette" and the town crier are most amusing. Barney Castle and its world-famed Barney stone that has "A dale of power in it," and Limerick with its history lost in antiquity give this reproduction a rare historic value.

Injured Man Likely to Recover.

Newport, March 27.—Henry Moseley, who was caught between two cars at Masonville Station, Quebec, recently, and injured so severely that it was feared he would die, was brought home yesterday in a plaster cast, and it is thought probably that he will recover. The pelvic and other bones were fractured.

CRIPPLED HANDS AND FEET

Marvellous Cure of Rheumatism by MINARD'S KING OF PAIN LINIMENT

"Four years ago I was taken with rheumatism. I lost the use of my hands and had to go to the hospital, but did not get any relief. I also had it in my limbs and body and could not walk for six months. I was a patient in the Homeopathic Hospital, the Emergency Hospital, and the New England Hospital, and did not get any relief from any of them. I also went to the Fourth Grade Hospital in New York. Some of Boston's best physicians attended me and still I could not do any work at all, but for the last year, since using Minard's Liniment, I am able to do all my household work. I think that I know the worth of Minard's Liniment better than any person who has ever suffered with rheumatism. Hundreds of people who know of my suffering give Minard's Liniment the praise. I wish that every one knew the worth of this Liniment as I do. Yours truly, Mrs. Emma B. Williams, 62 Sayer St., Boston."

WOLVES AND FOXES IN THE WEST

The Reason For The Prevalence of The Former on the Plains.

Some Lamar fox hunters were discussing the prevalence of wolves and the decrease in the number of foxes throughout. This they explained as follows: "In the first place the wolf is strong hardy and a great breeder. A wolf will begin to rear puppies when she is a year old, and there are from nine to twelve in a litter. Usually every puppy in the litter lives to be a full grown wolf. Thus the coyote, as well as his larger and more powerful gray or black brethren, multiplies very rapidly. Then the wolf is not chased with the zest and eagerness with which the sportsmen go after Sir Reynard. The ordinary fox dog won't go against a wolf when he is at bay, and further, hounds that get into the habit of chasing wolves can't tell the trail of their quarry from that of a shepherd dog. The result is that every farmer soon gets sore on a bunch of hounds that are trained to hunt wolves. They are always cornering an innocent farm dog and putting him to death, thinking that they have run onto an easily vanquished wolf."

"A fox," declared Mr. Timmons, "on the other hand, is one of the most delicate animals in the world. In the first place, he can't fight. The very moment a dog catches him he gives up and allows himself to be killed. Then the mortality among the puppies is usually as much as 50 per cent. Sir Reynard's only defense is his well-known slyness and intelligence."—Kansas City Star.

NO HOPE FOR SLOWER TRAINS.

Present Schedules Not Unsafe, Say the Officials.

Chicago, March 27.—Passenger officials of western railroads are not making very rapid progress with their general scheme to run trains slower. At their meeting Monday, it was apparent that they can never reach an agreement to lengthen by eighteen hours the schedule of the fastest trains between here and the Pacific coast, as originally planned. Operating officials declare that the present schedules of passenger trains are not too fast for safety, but in order to run them on schedule time they are obliged to delay freight trains, which pay much larger profits. The freight officials concur in this theory and are also advocating slower schedules for the passenger trains.
